GEORGE NEIDERMEIER.

Barham Keenon, carrier on route No. 4, reports a good rain all the way out on Tuesday, but not much this side of Kellyville.

A Statement.

To the people of Jefferson, I desire to make this statement. In a friendly letter just received from Jefferson, I am notified of the Prohibition election, and in this connection, along with other pleasantries, my friend intimates that my "Anti" friends (?) roasted me, because of a circular recently printed over my signature, and circulated among the people.

He intimates that some of these friends (?) even charged me with cowardice, because I did not get the circular out before leaving. Allow me to say here, that I hardly think any of my former friends, on either side of the question, would seriously make any such statement. However, my record will not bear out any such charge, and it will be on easy matter to look into my past character. If it can be shown that I have ever dodged a vital issue in any particular, or ran from public opinion, or any of its results, I will gladly pay for any expense or trouble incurred in making the investigation, and I will pay one hundred dollars as a premium, to any man, who will find anything but the contrary to be true. I have never seen a copy of the circular in question, but I will say here, that if the circular contains nothing more than was published over my signature in the "JIMPLECUTE" of September, the 3rd, I most assuredly have no apologies to make. The words printed there, were for the most part taken from a book, I published a few years ago, and gave to the public, in a section where I lived, and where the liquor element was much stronger than in your section. Besides, I have frequently, before large audiences, and in the presence of strong liquor men, stated myself quite as freely as I have in this article. Furthermore, I thought seriously of remaining in Jefferson until after the election, I really wanted to remain, (although I did not believe that liquor would be voted out), but in being transferred to this section, I was urged by the highest authority in the Church, to report for duty here, as promptly as I could, and my promise was out to this end, so that I was obliged to move at once. The saloon men, and the saloon advocates, know they are morally wrong, as well as I do, and so far as they are concerned, there is no need for argument. It is simply a matter of cash against character, and as I have merely stated facts, I think no one should complain. In conclusion let me say that I am not physically, built right for running; and that my legs have never been trained to run from public opinion. I have nothing against any saloon man, outside of his business, but his business is a curse, and when it comes to a vital issue, I shall always avail myself of my rights as an American Citizen, and freely state my position on this, or any other subject, regardless of anybody's opinion to the contrary. I defy any man to show me where whiskey is a moral or financial benefit to any community, but you won't have to leave Jefferson to find conclusive evidence against it. I wish old Jefferson and her people every possible blessing. I have nothing against any of her citizens, and however they may regard me privately or publicly, whenever I get ready to come back, you will find me on the principle streets of your town; and right here let me add, that I intend to come back on a visit the very first chance I get, and I will not be molested either. Yours truly and with best wishes,
R. C. GEORGE.
